ELSEVIER

The Journal of Systems and Software 45 (1999) 241–242

The Journal of Systems and Software

Contents Volume 45

Contents

Editor's Corner
Is This the Biggest IS Controversy of All?
R.L. Glass 1

Assessment of a renewal process experimented in the field
G. Visaggio 3

Toward an integration of data flow and domain testing
B. Jeng 19

OBJECTIVE: a benchmark for object-oriented active database systems
U. Çetintemel, J. Zimmermann, O. Ulusoy and A. Buchmann 31

Satisfying temporal consistency constraints of real-time databases
S.V. Vrbsky and S. Tomic 45

Architecture-driven modeling of real-time concurrent systems with applications in FMS
Y. Deng and C.-R. Yang 61

Editor's Corner
Brainstorming: How to do it better
R.L. Glass 79

Making distributed applications manageable through instrumentation
M.J. Katchabaw, S.L. Howard, H.L. Lutfiyya, A.D. Marshall and M.A. Bauer 81

A classification of multicast mechanisms: implementations and applications
X. Jia, J. Cao and W. Jia 99

Communicating object group and protocols for distributed systems
W. Jia 113

QoS specification and mapping for distributed multimedia systems: A survey of issues
F. Cheong and R. Lai 127

Rapid prototyping of distributed algorithms
J. Cao, O. De Vel and L. Shi 141

Fast and simple decomposition techniques for the reliability analysis of interconnection networks
S.M. Koriem 155

Editor's Corner
An Open Letter to a CEO
R.L. Glass 173

The efficacy of matching information systems development methodologies with application characteristics – an empirical study
G.S. Howard, T. Bodnovich, T. Janicki, J. Liegle, S. Klein, P. Albert and D. Cannon 177

An assessment of systems analysis and design courses
M.M. Misic and N.L. Russo 197

A cognitive information processing and information theory approach to diagram clarity: A synthesis and experimental investigation
K.B. Lloyd and D.J. Jankowski 203

Special section: empirical research on systems analysis and design methods

Joint application design (JAD) in practice
E.J. Davidson 215

Expressing casual relationships in conceptual database schemas
V. Ramesh and G.J. Browne 225

Usability inspection in contract-based systems development – A contextual assessment
T. Näslund and J. Löwgren 233